

Integrating Gender into Environmental Economics Research: Lessons from EEPSEA Studies

EDITORS: Herminia A. Francisco, Linda M. Peñalba, and Kalikasan C. Cuevas

Economy and Environment Program for Southeast Asia

Table of Contents

Foreword	v
Contributors	vii
Acronyms	ix
Synthesis. Integrating Gender into Environmental and Natural Resources Economics Research: Insights from Philippine Case Studies	1
Linda M. Peñalba, Ma. Larissa Lelu P. Gata, Merlyne M. Paunlagui, Zenaida M. Sumalde, Margaret M. Calderon, Maria Helen F. Dayo, and Samantha Geraldine G. De los Santos
Case Study 1. Determinants of Farmers' Decision to Continue Farming the Rice Terraces of Hungduan	44
Margaret M. Calderon and Ma. Larissa Lelu P. Gata
Case Study 2. Assessment of Gender Role Participation in Coastal Resource Management Program: A Case Study in Masinloc, Zambales	76
Zenaida M. Sumalde, Maria Helen F. Dayo, and Ma. Cristina A. Alvarez
Case Study 3. Adaptive Capacity and Adaptation Actions of Households for a Typhoon Event in Bula, Camarines Sur, Philippines	124
Linda M. Peñalba, Merlyne M. Paunlagui, and Samantha Geraldine G. De los Santos	